ATTEND INDIAN FIESTA

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES TURCK HAVE INTERESTING EXPERIENCE AT WARNER'S RANCH

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Turck have recently returned from Warner Hot Springs, where Mrs. Turck received marked benefit from a course of treatment. They were so fortunate as to be there during an Indian Fiesta which was held at the San Ignacio Reservation, twelve miles from Warner's Hot springs, at an elevation 2700 feet above it. They made the trip over a road built especially for the purpose and Mrs. Turck says it was the stiffest ride she ever took. They went by a stage accustomed to the road, which is far from safe for autos, and got back to the springs at one o'clock in the morning. This week, Mrs. Turck says, the Indians are holding another fiesta at Pala. The one which she and her husband attended was a wonderful experience, which she declares she would not have missed for a great deal. There the representatives of twenty-one tribes came together for a division of riches, the wealthy tribes giving of their plenty for the poor tribes on unproductive reservations. These Indians came in all sorts of conveyances, from the late model automobile to the starved burro. There were no concessions or booths at which things were sold, but a simple festival at which Indian games and contests were put on and an exhibition was given of the old Indian dances, performed to a monotonous chant furnished by the squaws encircling the ring, on the naked ground, while elsewhere on a modern platform, the young squaws and braves indulged in ragtime and "trots" to the music of a victrola. One old Indian of the Santa Rosa tribe gave the feather dance, with which Indian victories in the old times were celebrated.

Not the least pleasurable of their experiences on the trip was a delicious dinner cooked by an Indian woman and served in a beautiful Indian pagoda built of timbers and willow poles brought twenty miles by the Indians and set up for the occasion. It was a spacious dining hall, measuring 100x200 feet.

She also says that two bath rooms are reserved at the springs for the Indians and while they were there more than 1000 used them.

The Pala Indians, who are exceedingly intelligent, have been ousted from the Warner Ranch which they had supposed was theirs because old Don Juan Warner had promised to give them a deed. When he died without doing so and his heir brought

VICTIMS OF BANDITS

TWO GLENDALE FAMILIES HELD UP BY TRIO OF BANDITS ARRESTED SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ashton and family and their neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Flynn of El Bonita street in the Tropico district, had quite a thrilling experience last Saturday and will be important witnesses against the trio of bandits arrested Sunday at El Monte, one of whom is dead, one in the County Hospital and one in jail. The Flynns and Ashtons were on their way to some place on the Mojave river for a week-end hunting and fishing trip and were traveling at night. Mr. Flynn, who was in advance, was driving along at a moderate rate of speed and hearing a machine behind him going at a swifter pace, drew to one side of the road to allow it to pass. Instead of going by, it halted alongside his car and he was peremptorily ordered to drive off the road into the sand and brush. When he protested that he feared getting stalled in the sand, he was persuaded to obey the order by a gun poked into his ribs. When both machines had been driven into the brush, the men of the party were withdrawn from the car and searched, all their money, about $25 all told, was taken from them except $1 allowed Mr. Flynn on his urgent plea for gasoline expenditures. The car was then ransacked. The women were not disturbed, although they had money in their purses which would have swelled the loot.

The party was then left to pursue their journey in peace, which they did, although in some state of excitement from their unusual experience. The holdup took place in the neighborhood of Hesperia.

Sunday the three bandits, a father and two sons named Hara, who had made a series of holdups, were rounded up at El Monte. They resisted arrest and the father was shot dead. One of the sons was wounded and is now in the County Hospital. The other, who was unhurt, is in the County Jail.

When the Ashton-Flynn party returned to this city they made it a point to travel by daylight, and Mr. Flynn reported their experience to a deputy sheriff, was taken to the jail and identified the prisoner, who confessed that his gang had held him up.

A FAREWELL LUNCHEON

Wirt Franklin and his sister, Mrs. Frank M. Head, and two little daughters, Nancy Blake and Mary Wirt, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin in this city, have returned to Ardmore, Okla. Tuesday Mrs. Head and her daughters were guests of honor at a two-course luncheon given by Mrs. Blake Franklin, which was quite unique in its table appointments. Attached to the place card of each guest was a miniature train, and centering the table was a larger train with floral decorations in the national colors. Ladies who participated in the pleasant affair which was followed by an afternoon of needlework and sociability were Mesdames Mabel Franklin Ocker, J. H. Franklin, A. R. Chappell, C. M. Van Dyke, Sarah Van Dyke, Frank Head and Misses Nancy and Mary Head.

SERGEANT J. S. MORAN, WHO FOUGHT AT YPRES AND AIX-LA CHAPELLE, WILL SPEAK

In these stirring times, when patriotism is the breath of every citizen, it is scarcely necessary to publish any reminder of the Community Sing which takes place tonight at 7:45 at the High School auditorium for the singing of patriotic airs and familiar lyrics. No attendant on these festivals of song should stay away tonight because the sing, which will be directed as usual by Prof. Hugo Kirhcoffer of Hollywood with Mrs. Gates at the piano, will be followed at 8:30 by a stirring address to be made by Sergeant J. S. Moran, on behalf of the Fourth Liberty Loan. It will be the opening gun in the Glendale campaign.

The Sergeant's war talk will be based on his personal experiences at the front. He enlisted August 27th, 1914, losing no time to register hatred of the Hun policies. He participated in the battle at Ypres, April 22, 1915, he was at Aix la Chapelle in May, 1915, and September 22d, 1917, on the Flanders front sustained two serious wounds and three minor ones which led to his discharge from the service February 8th, 1918. As a tried and seasoned soldier who gladly did his bit in the thickest of the fight, he will have much to tell which no one interested in the war who is able to attend should miss.

WEATHER FORECAST—Unsettled weather, probable showers tonight and tomorrow.

CONFERENCE CLOSES

DR. GABELEIN GIVES FINAL ADDRESS ON STUDY OF THE BIBLE

Taking I Pet. 2:1-10 as the text for yesterday afternoon's sermon at the Bible Conference at the Presbyterian church, Dr. Gabelein pointed out that Christians form a priesthood which is both holy and royal.

The earthly ecclesiastical priesthood which we see in the world today has no authority in Scriptures, for the separation of the people in the body of Christ into clergy and laity is contrary to the purpose of God. As Peter tells us, in the text, all Christians are priests who have access to the presence of God through the Lord Jesus Christ, the one great High Priest.

In order to become priests of God, three things are necessary: (1) We must, like God's earthly priests described in Leviticus, be washed with water, that is, we must be born again by accepting Jesus as the Son of God. By means of this bath of regeneration we are given a new nature and so come into the light in which God dwells. (2) Again, like the priesthood of Aaron, God's priests must be justified and acquitted by the blood. When we once for all come under the blood of Christ, who died for the remission of our sins, we receive forgiveness and have the assurance that all is right between us and God. (3) As the Levitican priests were anointed with oil so, too, must we wear the emblem of anointed oil—the Holy Spirit. Having believed and accepted Jesus Christ, it follows necessarily that our bodies are the temples of the Holy Spirit, and so we live in the Spirit. If we have not the Spirit, then we are none of Christ's. Let us not try to get more of the Spirit, which is an impossibility, but rather give more of ourselves for the Holy Spirit to use.

Just as Melchizedek, the king of righteousness and peace made known at the end of the first war recorded in the Bible, the name of God the Most High and his glory to Abraham, just so, at the end of the last great war, Christ, the real Melchizedek, will come and show the glory of God for all time. Our holy priesthood is up yonder with God; our royal priesthood is coming when we go to share with Christ in glory his place as king. Because Jesus died for our sins and was our substitute, we are to share with him all that the Father has given Him. He is the heir, we are joint heirs; He is a priest, we are priests with Him; He will be a king, we will be kings with Him; for we are to be made like Him.

The functions of our priesthood must be twofold: (1) we are expected to worship God in spirit and in truth, that is, with praise and thanks that He gave us His Son; (2) we must exercise the ministry of intercession for others, just as Jesus prays for us on the throne. Thus we go to God, as holy priests, but as royal priests we go out to man to make known to man the excellencies of God. We are in this the representatives of the Lord Jesus, and so we must go about with peace and gentle-

ATTORNEY McBRYDE GOES TO CAMP BOWIE

Attorney James F. McBryde of this city, who had offices also in Los Angeles, has been inducted into military service of the United States. He goes forward today to Camp Bowie, Fort Worth, Texas. Attorney McBryde has been a resident of the City of Glendale for about six years and during that time he has won the friendship of many in Southern California.

Upon reading an article in the Glendale Evening News last Saturday, in which it was stated that two men were needed for immediate induction, Attorney McBryde volunteered and was chosen to fill one of the vacancies.

Glendale and vicinity will miss this congenial young man, but congratulate him upon his opportunity to do service for his country.

Attorney McBryde has turned over his legal practice to his partner, Attorney Fredrick R. Levee, who has offices in the Story Building, Los Angeles. Attorneys Levee and McBryde have been associated together in legal practice since Attorney McBryde was admittd to the California Bar.

Mrs. Helen Mosher McBryde will make her home during her husband's absence in the service, with her mother, Mrs. Sarah J. Mosher of 111 North Central avenue, this city. Mrs. McBryde is employed by the City of Glendale and is thus patriotically aiding her husband to serve our country.

Glendale wishes Soldier McBryde Godspeed.

POPULAR COURSES

DEMAND FOR THE COURSES IN FRENCH AND HISTORY OFFERED BY U. S. C.

The announcement recently made in these columns that the University of Southern California would provide University Extension courses in Glendale which would include instruction in the French language and in Contemporary European History, provided there was a sufficient demand to justify their organization, has aroused much interest. The many men included in the draft who sooner or later may be sent to France either for full or limited military service has created a demand for instruction in French among men who are awaiting a call, and the fact that the government is beginning to summon women to service overseas as well as here in lines of work they are qualified to perform, should make this proposition of interest to them. The majority of our citizens are realizing as never before their ignorance of contemporary European history and consequent inability intelligently to understand the causes of the present war. To all such, the history courses will make a special appeal. Concerning this matter, Mrs. Charles Toll, the special representative of the University here, has furnished the following announcement:

"Miss Nadine Crump, in charge of the University Extension work of Southern California, will be at the Intermediate School on Friday, September 27, at 4 o'clock, to arrange classes in Glendale for the fall and winter

"Many attractive courses are open to the public, provided a sufficient number of students enroll. Chief among these are French classes, elementary and advanced, under Prof. Louis F. D. Briois, whose work is too widely and favorably known to need comment.

"An attractive course in Contemporary European History is offered, with Prof. Frank Klingberg in charge. This course provides a review of the last century of European history, to explain the causes of the Great War, including the attempted federation of Europe under and after Napoleon; the spread of French revolutionary principles; the revolutionary movements of 1830 and 1848; development of nationalism; the work of Mazzini, Cavour and Bismarck; the growth of militarism and its influence; growth of Democracy and Socialism; international congresses and alliances; rivalries on the Near Eastern Question and in the Colonial field; the German menace to civilization; the course of the war; war aims; Wilson, the champion of intershould, by its present interest, appeal ganization.

"This course requires 15 hours and shoudl, by its present interest, appeal to all.

"A course in modern contemporary poetry (war poetry) is also offered, under the tutelage of Prof. Stelcer.

"There are many other attractive courses it will be possible to have here in Glendale in addition to the above, provided enough ask for them."

THE BIG GUN CORPS

IS SEEKING VOLUNTEERS WITH TECHNICAL EDUCATIONS OR BUSINESS TRAINING

Members of the local Exemption Board have just been advised that an opportunity is now offered all men of draft age and the proper qualifications, to try for a commission in the Big Gun Corps. The circular states that such men between the ages of eighteen and forty-five will be inducted voluntarily into service before being called by the draft. In continuation, the circular says:

"The Big Gun corps needs men of technical training, and of wide business experience, 'men who can handle men.' A working knowledge of trigonometry and logarithms is required of the younger men, elderly men, in lieu of this, can offer their business and technical experience as requisites.

"The system of induction is briefly this: The applicant appears before the military board and states his qualifications. He is then given a physical examination. Those who succeed in passing this are given a mental examination and a personal interview. The mental examination will consist chiefly of mathematics for the younger men. Older men who have not studied that branch for many years will have equal weight given their work, previous training and experience. The interview will include personal references. Those who succeed in passing all this will

Senator James Hamilton Lewis, just returned from France, says that we can win the war in a year if we continue to pour men and munitions into the battle fronts as fast as we can send them. On this "if" hangs the result of all of our previous efforts and sacrifices. Now that we have gone so far we need the final great effort to win the victory.

Did you ever see an evenly contested game of foot ball played by teams of about the same weight and experience and did you notice that the team which finally "put it over" and won the game, was the one which had the best STAYING POWERS and which didn't think of letting up in the slightest degree till the last minute of the play, but, if anything seemed to fight all the harder as the contest went on toward its close? Of course you have, and you know that in like manner we are going to win this war. We know we are going to win it, but only by staying with it, with every force we possess. Because we are on the offensive today let us not feel that the war is as good as won, because it isn't.

Suppose our fighting boys let up in their aggressiveness now, depending on their mobilization and threatening force to put such terror into the hearts of the Huns that they would be overawed and willing to make peace on any terms. Would we win it? Not on your life. As a nation we are just beginning to fight, so we must feel that we have only just started to buy bonds and to contribute to the funds so necessary to the maintenance of our armies.

The fourth Liberty Loan is three or four times as large as previous ones for haven't we that many more soldiers to maintain? And we want them to be the best fed, best clothed, best protected and best cared for soldiers that were ever in an army. They must be and there is only one way to do this, and that is with MONEY. We've got to have it, so let's dig down right away, and resolve that we are going to make the slacker ashamed of himself, and put despair into the hearts of the Kaiser by showing the world that we are backing up our words with our coin.

PITS AND SHELLS FOR GAS MASKS

The War Department has requested the boys' and girls' clubs of the country to help collect fruit pits and nutshells, the carbon in which is used in making gas masks. Contests have been suggested among the million club members by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State agricultural colleges, which conduct the club work, to see which members, which club, which district and which State can deliver the largest amount of material in the shortest time. Each member should try to furnish at least 200 peach pits, or 7 pounds of shells—enough material for one mask. Since more and better carbon is secured from the pits of peaches, prunes and plums than from other sources, boys and girls should make it their special business to see that every home in their communities saves the pits of these fruits. They should also visit community and commercial canneries, hotels, restaurants and bakeries. In addition, seeds should be collected from dates and olives, and shells and whole nuts be saved from hickory nuts, butternuts, English and native walnuts, and hazelnuts. The material may be delivered to the local Red Cross headquarters, which are acting as central stations for collecting and shipping.

RELIGIOUS DIFFERENCES HAVE NO PLACE IN WAR WORK

The plan for several drives on a nation-wide basis for war work funds, made by the several recognized societies doing such work abroad, has been definitely abandoned. In its place is the assurance of a combined drive which makes certain the success of the movement. The decision and change came naturally, once the question of fairness to the organization, which would come last in order, was considered.

President Wilson, in making the decision, said:

"It was evident from the first, and has become increasingly evident, that the services rendered by these agencies to our army and to our allies are essentially one and of a kind; and must of necessity, if well rendered, be rendered in the closest co-operation. It is my judgment, therefore, that we shall secure the best results in the matter of support of these agencies if these seven societies will unite their forthcoming appeals for funds in order that the spirit of the country in this matter may be expressed without distinction of race or religious opinion in support of what is in reality a common service."

The great drive for funds, accordingly, will begin November 11, and continue for one week.

The appeal to the American people for a grand total of $170,500,000 has been made. The question in the minds of those most closely identified with the work is not the attaining of the mark, but how much over that figure will be collected.

The money will be divided as follows:

Young Men's Christian Association, $100,000,000; Young Women's Christian Association, $15,000,000; National Catholic War Council, including the Knights of Columbus work and special war activities for women, $30,000,000; Jewish Welfare Board, $3,500,000; War Camp Community service, $15,000,000; Salvation Army, $3,500,000; American Library Association, $3,500,000.

The decision to hold one joint drive is pleasing to the Administrative Committee of the National Catholic War Council, says the Tidings. Bishop Peter J. Muldoon, Bishop Joseph Schrembs, Bishop Patrick J. Hayes and Bishop William T. Russell, who comprise the Council, issued a statement in which they give their unqualified approval to the plan. In concluding their statement they say:

"Questions of religious differences have no place in such a service, which should be extended to all soldiers and sailors without regard to creed or color; nor in a drive for funds to which all citizens of any and every denomination contribute."

Now that the Knights of Columbus War Service has reached the point where the cantonments in the United States and the men in camp and at the front abroad are being cared for, a new department, long considered, has been placed in operation.

Seventy-five secretaries, selected because of their special qualifications, have been assigned to the transport service. These men will sail the high seas, braving the submarines and other dangers that the American soldier may be entertained and served while en route to the port of debarkation.

In this way the close association established in the training camps will continue in an unbroken sequence right up to the front line trenches. In addition phonographs have been provided for may of the transports.

SERGEANT LOSES LAST GAME FIGHT

By Frank J. Taylor
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

AN AMERICAN HOSPITAL IN FRANCE, Sept. 2. (By Mail.)—"No, they're not going to bring the Sergeant back to the ward, boys."

Those were exactly the words the nurse used. But the tone of her voice and the look in her eyes said more.

The little group in the ward which had been playing cards on one of the beds to forget the tension they felt while the sergeant's operation was taking place, stopped suddenly, all attention, all hungering for good news.

"You don't mean the Sergeant's gone, do you?" exclaimed one.

"Yes, boys, the Sergeant's gone. Four operations were just too much for his strength. He never regained consciousness."

The little group of patients and the nurse were silent.

The chap with one leg gone had half a deck of cards in his hand. Dazed, he relaxed and the cards fell to the floor, scattering over half the ward. The chap with one leg never noticed them.

"Gee, the Sergeant's gone," he said huskily, "he sure was a game boy."

"He was the best fellow I ever knew," said another, "and the cheerfulest, too. I've seen them dressing his leg time and again, and gosh! but it hurt. But did the Sergeant ever say anything? Not the Sergeant—he never batted an eye."

"Just to think," mused a third, "it wasn't half an hour ago when we saw him go out. I shouted, 'Good luck, Sarge,' when the stretcher was carried through the door, and he smiled and said, 'Thanks, I'll be back in a few minutes with you.'"

They sat there together, the half a dozen of the Sergeant's bunkies, all invalids, with the nurse of the ward, just musing and talking like that, trying to realize that the Sergeant was gone. Mess time came and went, and no one paid any attention to it—they were thinking only of the Sergeant.

The Sergeant was Frank Carbaugh of Greencastle, Pa., a member of the 7th Machine gun Sanitary Detachment. His mother is Mrs. Carbaugh, and no mother ever reared a braver son.

The Sergeant, who was a mathematics teacher before the war, was wounded when his outfit was rushed into action near Chateau-Thierry. None of his bunkies knew just how, because, as one of them explained "The Sergeant wasn't the kind of a fellow who'd talk of himself. You can bet he was wounded doing something for somebody, though."

They did know that the Sergeant lay out in the open a long time after he was wounded. Medical records showed that. His leg was badly smashed, and they operated at the first hospital he reached. But gangrene had set in, and four operations had followed in an effort to save him.

They have had lots of brave patients that doctors and nurses and patients admired alike in that hospital, but never one just like the Sergeant, who said little, was always joking and cheerful, and never had a complaint. The rest of the boys in the ward would do anything in the world for "the Sarge."

The little group sitting on the cots, with the nurse, had been talking of the Sergeant for a long time when one of the boys said, "You ought to write to his mother, Miss Cutter. The Sarge thought the world of his mother."

"I'm going to," replied the nurse. "You boys write out what you think of the Sergeant, and I'll send that, too."

The boys did, and here are a few lines from them:

Private Elmer Hyland wrote, "I was with him as soon as he came from the operation, and I cried when he went. He was a great boy—a clean fellow through and through. I wish my foot was so I could walk with him to the cemetery."

Wagoner John Trask wrote, "Our Sergeant is gone. Why, I loved that fellow like my own brother. I've seen other fellows go but I never felt like this."

Serg. Vincent Sauer wrote, "I never felt worse since I came in the fight. He was game to the last, always cheerful, and when I called 'Good luck to you,' he answered 'Thanks, I'll be O. K. soon.' We always had fun around his bed, he was so cheerful. He was one of the finest fellows I ever knew."

Arthur Stain, who knew the Sergeant better than the rest, the boys say, because "he and the Sarge liked to dabble in poetry," wrote a poem to send the Sergeant's mother.

They buried the Sergeant in the little American graveyard in a pretty Lorraine valley, with an American flag over the coffin, as 18 soldiers fired three shots over the grave and the bugler gave "Taps." Then some of the boys whose injuries permitted their attending the funeral, gathered flowers in the valley and the nurses placed them on the grave with red, white and blue ribbons around them.

Personals

Miss Beresford Joy is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles H. Toll, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Furst of 500 North Isabel street have returned from a week's outing at Venice.

Father O'Neill went this morning to Pasadena to bury a brother priest and brother Elk, the Rev. William F. Quinlan, late pastor of St. Andrew's Church in Pasadena. Father Quinlan belonged to the Pasadena Lodge of Elks and was greatly beloved. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Cantwell of Los Angeles will conduct the funeral services, assisted by a number of priests from Southern California.

The all-day meeting of the N. P. Banks Post and Corps which will be held tomorrow, Friday, at the G. A. R. hall, will be a celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the establishment of the post, and an important affair. An appropriate program of music and speeches has been arranged which will begin at one o'clock. It will be preceded by a dinner with a number of extra features in honor of the occasion, which will be served at 12 o'clock and which will be in charge of Mrs. Jennie Phillips, assisted by capable workers of the corps.

Volunteers on the Legal Advisory Board who served yesterday at Exemption Board headquarters were able to keep abreast of the work and take care of all registrants as fast as they appeared, but unless their numbers are increased they may be swamped later as Chairman Lanterman declares only about one-third of the registrants have filed Questionnaires. The list of men who assisted registrants Wednesday included Messrs. Theodore Pierce, Clare Van Etten, Hartley Shaw, Dudley Jackson, Oliver Clark, J. H. Franklin and Messrs. McCammon and Rowley, who were also there the day before.

WARNING TO REGISTRANTS

Chairman Lanterman of the Exemption Board calls attention to the fact that the seven-day limit allowed for the filing of Questionnaires is nearing its close and only about thirty per cent have thus far been filed. Registrants will have to get busy.

Members of the Board are utilizing their scant leisure to classify the men who have filed Questionnaires and have handled about three hundred to date.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Yesterday afternoon the Girls' League of Union High were hostesses at a little informal reception in the new gymnasium building to the new teachers and pupils. There were impromptu speeches by the newcomers, races and athletic stunts and a general good time without any refreshments, as it was strictly Hooverized.

The Vocational Department of Union High, of which Miss Ethel H. Flood, Dean of the girls, is the head, is today to have a speech about the vocation of the farmerette from Miss Phoebe Snell, a local farmerette, who will tell of her personal experiences and explain the movement.

Friday there is to be a Liberty Loan Assembly at the fourth period, at which students will be organized into groups by classes to form societies to handle everything in the way of Junior Red Cross Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps, and also to work for the Fourth Liberty Loan in a systematic way.

MISS WILSON'S PUPILS IN RECITAL

Miss Ruth Wilson of 118 North Louise street, or 326 South Louise street (old number), wishes to announce that she and her pupils will give a recital at her home next Saturday evening, September 28, at 8 o'clock.

This recital will be more informal than usual, as the work through the vacation time has been somewhat irregular, and all of Miss Wilson's pupils will not appear on the program. Miss Wilson's purpose of the evening is to give her pupils and friends a good time before starting on the work of the new term, which begins Monday, September 30th.

The parents, friends and any one interested in the work are invited to come.

RED LETTER BIRTHDAY

Little Ruth Louise Muhleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Muhleman of Chestnut street, enjoyed a delightful all-day celebration of her fourth birthday Wednesday. In the afternoon a party of little folks which included Muriel Clark, Ethel and Ruth Bannock, John Lane and Melville Walker, had a fine time at a lawn party at which there were games and other pleasant diversions followed by refreshments of ice cream and wafers, with birthday favors for each guest. Then in the evening there was a family dinner around a table made beautiful by flowers and party decorations where a lovely birthday cake bearing four candles was served. Special guests at this dinner were Mrs. Von Walde, aunt of the girl in whose honor it was given, and Miss Cecil Wright of Cleveland, Ohio, her cousin, who is paying a brief visit to her relatives in Glendale before enrolling at the University of California in Berkeley, where she is taking a post-graduate course. It was a red-letter day for little Ruth Louise, who asked from hour to hour, "Is it still my birthday?"

CHAMPION BOWLERS

GLENDALE AND L. A. TEAMS COMPETE TONIGHT FOR SOUTHERN CHAMPIONSHIP

The excitement of the bowlers of the Glendale Elks' Lodge over the contest tonight between its team and that of the Los Angeles Lodge is shared by the many bowlers in the Angel City because on this game hinges the championship of the South and the chance to compete for the State Championship at San Diego, October 18th and 19th, when the B. P. O. E. State Convention assembles there. This critical game is to be played at the Majestic Alleys.

Teams from the North, Central and Southern part of State, who are champion of their districts, meet and fight it out for the Harry Tichnor Trophy emblematic of the championship of all Bill bowling teams in the State of California.

The line-up of the Los Angeles Lodge No. 99, B. P. O. E. teams as announced by Captain Alfred Mackenzie is as follows: J. Neal, Matt Kressich, C. Hawkins, F. P. Simpson and Alfred Mackenzie.

The Glendale team, of which Joe Fortunato is captain, includes the well-known players, Ward, Stone, Viohl and Hearnshaw. They will be accompanied to Los Angeles by an enthusiastic crowd of noisy rooters from the local Elks' Lodge and all are confident their representatives will capture the banner.

The splendid work which has been done by the local team, so recently organized, has swelled the breasts of club members and of Glendale citizens generally with pride.

have their names sent to Washington to be inducted immediately into service.

"Upon induction, the men will be sent to Fort MacArthur or other coast defenses and work in the ranks as private for six weeks. Those who succeed in passing the preliminary training will be sent to Fort Monroe Officers' Training Camp. Every month Fort MacArthur is to send an increment to this officers' school and those who do not qualify within six weeks will have sufficient opportunity to qualify again.

"For those who do not succeed in getting to the officers' training school, there will be many opportunities for qualifying as non-commissioned officers for the companies that are being formed at Ft. MacArthur for the overseas regiments.

"Still others will be given a chance to become enlisted specialists. The heavy or coast artillery is greatly in need of technical experts to qualify as electricians and radio sergeants or master gunners. Many young men are especially needed for these positions as well as for sergeants major. A large number of officers have worked their way to a commission through this channel and the opportunities are unlimited. The pay of these non-commissioned officers runs as high as $81 per month, exclusive of the food and clothing allowance. If a man fails to qualify in any of these special branches, he continues as a private in one of the most interesting and useful branches of the service, where the way of promotion is never closed. The Big Gun Corps is just coming into its own and the opportunities are unlimited.

"The board will sit in Los Angeles at 512-513 Chamber of Commerce building to consider applicants and answer questions. Col. Harry L. Steele is chairman and is assisted by Lieutenants Ginsburgh and Hatch."

A letter transmitting the above circular states that a prospective officers' training camp is being opened at Fort MacArthur and that candidates with a technical education are desired.

suit and took possession, they abandoned their old trails and the mission they had loved and would come no nearer than the tops of the hills, whence they could look down upon their old haunts. Mr. Hinshaw, the present owner, has restored their little church and deeded them ten acres of ground surrounding it, and there Father Ricardo, an Irishman whose real name is Richards and who has little knowledge of the Indians and less sympathy, celebrates Mass. The younger generation of Indians is ready to let bygones be bygones, but the old braves are still bitter and unwilling to accept anything in the way of a compromise.

It is considered a bit of poetic justice that the Warner heir who drove them from the lands so long in their possession is now in destitute circumstances.

The Palas now have a splendid reservation with an allotment to each man of 25 acres. The majority are Carlisle graduates, they speak Spanish and English as well as their own tongue, and are a very fine body of men, according to Mrs. Turck.

ness. God has put the light of Christ in our hearts so it can shine out, but before this light can shine forth we must break to pieces this "earthen vessel," our old self, and then can we show forth "his excellency." II Cor. 4:6 and 7.

What then must we do to become priests of God, holy and royal? Just this: Pray more, worship more, intercede more. So bye and bye we, the heirs with Christ, will be eternally the priests of God, we will show forth his excellency, and we will sing his glory song. God's infinite grace and patience will keep us all the way.

Dr. Gabelein delivered last night to a large and responsive audience, the last address of the Bible Conference. Taking for his subject, "The Work of Christ: His Future Work," he dwelt at length on the second coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and what is connected with His coming, a matter vitally interesting to every Christian. Dr. Gabelein discussed the matter along the lines of three questions:

A. Does the Bible teach the second coming of Christ to be in the same person and body as we saw him in incarnation, crucifixion, and in resurrection?

B. What will he do when he returns?

C. When will he return?

The coming again of Jesus is clearly given in the Old Testament, along with the prophecies concerning his first advent. Read Daniel, chapter seven, and see what that prophet has to say concerning the coming of one "like the Son of man" with clouds. Knowing that every prophecy concerning Jesus' sufferings on earth (His first coming) has been fulfilled, we know then that this second coming is yet to be.

A. In answer to the first question, Dr. Gabelein dealt with some of the 375 New Testament passages which tell of Christ's second appearing.

(1) Matt. 16:27, which is the first time Christ himself mentions his second coming.

(2) Matt. 17. The transfiguration, which is a sample of his real return with the saints who have died and with the translated saints. As types of these we have Moses and Elias.

(3) Matt. 24:3 refers not to the end of the world but to the end of this present age.

The purpose of this age is not to convert the world but to preach the Gospel and to gather Christ's true church together. In this chapter we hear of the tribulations, such as "wars and rumors of wars," which are to come at the end of this age, but which will finally have an end, and the next age, that of Christ's kingdom on earth, will be ushered in, with its glory, peace and righteousness. But before this can happen, He must come to take his saints above with him to stay during the Great Tribulation on the earth.

(4) Matt. 24:30 and 31. Another promise of his second coming which is to be fulfilled literally.

(5) John 14:3. The one unfulfilled prophecy in book of John. In a flash, at death, we are in the presence of our Lord, a conscious presence, for consciousness is a characteristic of the soul. There is no such thing as soul-sleep, for sleep is connected only with the body.

(6) Acts 1:11, proves absolutely the second coming of Christ. Let us notice here that even the infidel Robert G. Ingersoll admitted Christ's second advent as taught in the New Testament.

B. Let us consider the second question, as to what Christ will do when he comes again. Having come the first time to save us from our sins, the next time he will come to fulfill his promise made to his disciples in John 14:3. The Lord is coming, then, to resurrect the bodies of his saints who have gone to heaven and to unite their bodies with their spirits from heaven. And those saints on earth who are born of the spirit, shall be changed in the twinkling of an eye and be taken up together with those other saints to be forever with him. Read Paul's inspired words in I Thess. 4:13-18.

At this time comes the reunion of believers with their loved ones, when together they meet the Lord in the air, and all go together to be in the Father's house. Only true followers of Christ, not the world, will hear the shout as Christ gathers his own out of the world. Then will follow the Great Tribulation, the anti-Christ, etc., after which Christ will come to the earth with his saints and establish his kingdom here. He will bring in blessing and glory, the most glorious condition this world has ever yet experienced. See Daniel, Revelation 4 and 5, etc.

C. As to the time of Christ's second coming, it is a secret that belongs to God. It is hidden for a purpose. It is likely to occur at any time, and this very fact makes the Blessed Hope such a power in the life of a Christian, for he "that hath this hope in him, purifieth himself, even as he is pure." I John 3:3. This blessed uncertainty is a power for clean living.

The present signs of the times show us that He is on his way to gather his saints and, later, to set up his righteous kingdom on earth. Are you ready? Not unless you have accepted Jesus Christ as your Saviour and as Christians have everything ready so as not to be ashamed to come before his judgment seat.

MY IMMORTALITY

By F. Lee Chauvan

When the shadow deep passes o'er my face,
And my heart is still, give my spirit's mask
To the fire; 'twill give it back in ashes pure.
Then strew my ashes where the flowers grow,
Friends my dead heart loved. My one Atom true
That, 'tis said, no fire destroys, may unite
With seed of lily, rose or violet,
And then, born anew in their season's joy,
Live in their kingdom's immortality.

DESIGN NO. 510

Here we have an example of the modern Colonial bungalow, being a combination of the architecture of the early Colonial period with modern conveniences and comforts. The floor plan of this design is both convenient and economical. In all, a home offering maximum value for the builder's money.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The homes illustrated here each week are selected from the designs of the Lumbermen's Service Association. Any information, floor plans or cost to build will be gladly furnished by either of the local members of this association:

"HOMES ARE CHARACTER DEVELOPERS"

To build a home, with Love for architect,
Is one of those God-given gifts that we
At times are given, that men may erect
On earth a model of Heaven above:
For wood and stone themselves can nothing be
Till placed together by the hands of Love.
And then we hear from the celestial dome:
"Ye have done well, for ye have built a home
And comfort, beauty and protection give
To all those little ones who come to live
On earth, and grow and love and still again
The world replenish with its meed of men."

OWN YOUR OWN HOME

DO YOU KNOW?

That it is a man's patriotic duty during these war times to live in Glendale. The saving on his electric light and water bills as compared with cost of these essentials in other cities will in a year's time purchase several War Savings Stamps or a small Liberty Bond.

Every available cent of money should be used for the purchasing of Liberty Bonds just at present, but the monthly rent paid may be turned toward payments on a home and thus not lessen your subscription for bonds and War Savings Stamps.

The allied nations are fighting now for the protection of their homes, and the greater the number of home owners in America, the greater the cause for fighting to protect these homes.

A nation's prosperity and degree of civilization may be judged by the character of its homes, and homes are neat, substantial and beautiful in the ratio of the number of home owners in a community.

The man who owns his own dwelling house spends leisure hours from business in making permanent repairs on buildings, planting shrubbery and trees and otherwise beautifying the premises. Time spent in this way affords opportunity for healthful exercise and at the same time adds to the valuation of the estate, making it possible to better give financial aid to all worthy causes. The home owner in a city is a valuable asset to the community.

The Power Behind The Fighters

Back of the Fighter stands the Ordnance; back of the ordnance, the ships---and back of the ships the laborers and providers---the men and women of our Nation, workers and fighters all. And back of all stands the power inspiring this sacrifice---The Home.

Homes that furnish protection and contentment to man, incubators of love and sentiment, which in times of war burst forth in glorious loyalty.

It's our homes for which we are fighting and working---and that family without a home will fail to reap the full reward of our victory.

MORE VALUABLE THAN GOLD

I cal'ate the biggest value I ever got fer my money is my home. Didn't buy it ready-built at a bargain sale either. No. sir. I built it just as we'd planned it to suit our needs and guess I paid dollar for dollar value for it, but folks, I don't some how figger the value of our home by the dollar standard. Can't seem to put a money value on the satisfaction we get out of it.

Why, the pride of possession is a feelin' worth more than the house cost, and then to see the interest the kiddies and mother take in it and how they enjoy fixin' up the yard and house.

Yes, we made some sacrifices to pay for it, but say, they were willin' ones. Seems like economizin' was a pure joy when we knew the savin's were goin' into our love nest.

And I can't help but notice that folks sorta think more of us than they did when we was just squatters, rentin' a house here and there, havin' to move at some landlord's beck and call. Then all the merchants seem to be more anxious to extend me credit. Guess ownin' a home don't hurt a man none in the eyes of the world.

I've heard folks say that "rentin' was cheaper than buyin' a home. Might better put the money into interest-bearin' notes." Say, friends, them folks is missin' somethin' big in life. Why, a home pays dividends daily in happiness, contentment and satisfaction that if measured by gold standard of value would convict every home owner of usury, but I reckon the court that tries this case is presided over by a judge who's verdict will in no way disgrace us. Yes, sir, I claim gold doesn't assay up to a home by the test o' value.
